

Middlebury College 2022 Democratic Action Plan

Summary

This Campus Action Plan was developed through collaborative efforts of our Center for Community Engagement's Democracy Initiatives student and professional staff, as well as our non-partisan democratic engagement student organization leaders. Our 2022 Action Plan, adapted from our 2020 plan, seeks to build on our existing successes in driving substantial student voting participation, by reaching out explicitly to groups on campus that have been typically underserved and marginalized with respect to voting access and support. On the Vermont campus, we will partner with the Anderson Freeman Resource Center and the Black Student Union. This plan continues our commitment to education and empowerment in the Middlebury Community during the 2022 general elections, 2023 town elections, and beyond. The development of this plan has been aided by resources from the ALL IN Campus Democracy Challenge and the Students Learn Students Vote \(SLSV\) Coalition. Our plan is intentionally student-led and student focused, because we believe the most effective organizing efforts center the leadership of the communities they focus on.

Institutional Context

At the heart of Middlebury's institutional mission lies a commitment to providing students with the skills and opportunities to engage as ethical citizens. Middlebury's mission statement says that "we prepare students to lead engaged, consequential, and creative lives, contribute to their communities, and address the world's most challenging problems." We believe that empowered participation in our democracy, when possible, is an essential piece of community. Middlebury also works to foster "the inquiry, equity, and agency, for them [students] to practice ethical citizenship at home and far beyond our Vermont campus."

By empowering students to vote and be engaged in local and national government, we embody Middlebury's mission. Middlebury uses the National Study of Learning, Voting, and Engagement \(NSLVE\) to measure election participation among students. According to NSLVE, in the 2020 presidential elections, Middlebury had a voting rate of 85.7%, an increase by 23.4 pts. from the 2016 presidential elections.

In the 2018 midterm elections, Middlebury had a voting rate of 51%, a 36% increase from our voting rate in the 2014 midterm elections. Between the 2012 and 2016 presidential elections, Middlebury's voting rate rose by 8.4%. Because Middlebury's long-term engagement in this work has resulted in successful efforts to increase voter participation, we believe that we have the capacity to continue to increase access and participation. We hope to build upon our momentum in 2022 and beyond.

Operating as a student organization, MiddVotes is managed by a group of undergraduates in collaboration with the Middlebury College Center for Community Engagement. MiddVotes leadership is predominantly horizontal, with democratic leadership within the group. MiddVotes works with a coalition of members from the Middlebury community who are united by their shared commitment to increasing election engagement and civic participation. Our partners will include traditional campus political groups, as well as cultural organizations and affinity groups, activist organizations, athletic teams, performing arts groups, administrative groups, the Middlebury College Student Government Organization, faculty, staff, and administration. MiddVotes is nonpartisan and strives to include voices from across the political spectrum, including those who have not participated in the political process in the past.

Middlebury Civics in Action (MiddCiA) is a new student organization, developed with the goal of helping students advocate for causes they care about and increasing their involvement in the legislative process. Given their new presence on campus, we are still exploring opportunities for collaboration with MiddCiA. Their organizational goals, however, align with our overall goal to help Middlebury students become more well-rounded participants in civic life in the places most important to them.

Middlebury Athletics was a critical partner in our efforts to increase participation in the 2020 general elections, and we look forward to maintaining that partnership over time. Kate Livesay and the Student Athletic Advisory Committee SAAC will play an integral role in this work.

The Democracy Initiatives Intern team (student staff) will partner with the student organizations to support the implementation of the plan.

Succession planning is a part of the advising process for all student organizations.

Goals

Create and foster a sustainable campus infrastructure that will support the following outcomes among Middlebury College students:

- Election participation
 - Register students to vote. By 2022, 99% of eligible Middlebury students will be registered to vote in the U.S.
 - Increase student voter turnout. By 2022, 90% of Middlebury students who are eligible U.S. voters will vote.
 - Create initiatives for all students, eligible and otherwise, to engage in election day activities (volunteering, election parties, etc.)
 - Reduce demographic disparities in voter turnout. By 2022, 70% of eligible black and Asian students will vote in the general election. Increase outreach to the affinity groups of demographics that are underrepresented in 2020 student voting rates
- Voter Education & Empowerment
 - Educate new Addison County, Vermont voters and Monterey County, California voters on local issues and candidates, as well as the impacts they may have on their campus community.
 - Educate all students on the issues and candidates that will be on their ballots.

- Foster an awareness among Middlebury students about voter suppression, disenfranchisement, and the history of activism that led to expansions of voting rights
 - Hold events and campaigns about civic engagement that are inclusive of students who are not eligible to vote in the U.S.
 - Underscore the importance of the midterm elections, and how local changes can have nationwide impacts
- Development & Expansion of MiddVotes
 - Develop outreach to international students, adapting from this resource created by Stony Brook's Center for Civic Justice.
 - Reach more spaces, groups, and communities on campus with our election engagement efforts, prioritizing groups with low voter turnout in the 2020 election + with the goal of better understanding any barriers they may face in voting.
 - Develop materials to help students decide whether to vote in VT, CA, or their home state
 - Reach new students at multiple points during orientation and the first semester of school, and work with Residential Life and Student Services (MIIS) to make this practice permanent
 - Recruit new volunteers and empower them to run voter registration drives and other events with skill and confidence
 - Update the MiddVotes website and Instagram with resources on registering to vote, requesting absentee ballots, and learning about upcoming elections, candidates, and issues for all 50 states
 - Work with Renee Wells, Middlebury's Director for Equity and Inclusion, to develop programming to help faculty facilitate inclusive discussions about elections
 - Develop effective and inclusive language to encourage students and community members to participate in elections
- Civic Learning and Democratic Engagement
 - Select and implement targeted strategies from Election Imperatives and Election 365 designed to deepen a culture of civic learning on campus

Evaluation & Reporting

Middlebury College uses the NSLVE report to evaluate student voting rates. We will also use an anonymous student survey after the election sent out to the entire student body asking the following questions: are you an eligible US voter? Are you registered to vote? Did you vote? Why or why not? What would have made it easier for you to vote? After the election, we will hold several meetings with the MiddVotes team as well as one meeting open to the public to discuss the effectiveness of various initiatives and events.

Some other measures we will use to evaluate our success are as follows:

- 2022 voting rate (% of eligible students that voted)
- # of people we helped register or request ballot
- # of days tabled
- # of consistent student volunteers
- # of riders in the election day shuttles
- # of student groups we worked with

The results of our evaluation will be used to inform future efforts and plans.
