III. Commitment

Our institution and our campus leadership demonstrates commitment to improving civic learning and democratic engagement. As stated in our mission statement, “...prepare students to be responsible citizens, who embrace diversity, support the common good, and contribute meaningfully to the changing world “

In addition, our campus has mentioned civic learning and democratic engagement in their strategic plan, stating “...real leadership is derived from service to others ... celebrate differences for they are our strength... share not one truth but respect our common pursuit for understanding”.

On campus, we’ve seen:

- Voter education resources
- Political clubs or student organizations
- Campus leaders promoting voting
- Voter registration tables
- Signage promoting Election Day
- Teach Ins
- partnership with Penn America related to promoting free speech

On campus, we’ve experienced:

- Registering to vote
- Civic Holiday events (such as National Voter Registration Day, National Voter Education Week, and Vote Early Day)

After review of critical documents and current practice, the committee acknowledges that the emphasis on civic learning and democratic engagement at Rider University could be increased.

Our institution has also utilized the following data gathering tools:

- National Survey of Student Engagement - It is not currently being used to inform our institution's civic learning and democratic engagement efforts

V. Goals

Before setting our civic learning and democratic engagement goals on campus, we took the following information into consideration.

We know our campus faces following challenges internally when it comes to get out the vote efforts and registering voters:

- The voter engagement work on our campus is very centralized within one office.
- We don't have sustainable or consistent funding.

With that said, we know our campus has the following strengths when we approach our voter engagement work:

- Our institution's mission statement, values, and strategic plan mention civic learning and democratic engagement.
- We have processes in place for registering large percentages of our students.
- We have ways in which we communicate voting information to our students.
- We use the resources readily available to develop and implement civic learning and democratic engagement on our campus.
- Voter engagement efforts on campus are nonpartisan.
- We are able to engage student leaders for the leadership of our initiative.

With this in mind, we have set the two goals that we would like to achieve over the next academic year:

1. Increase midterm election participation
2. Make voting information and resources accessible on multiple platforms

We have also set two goals that we would like to achieve over the next five years:

1. Institutionalize a culture of civic engagement
2. Develop campus wide political roundtables and other opportunities for deliberative dialogue among students

VI. Strategy

Below, we have outlined a strategy describing how we will bring this vision to life in the coming months and years.

These are tactics that we are already doing in the short term (within the next year):

- Facilitate a "Rider Votes" program to engage students in the registration and education phases of the initiative as a means for earning engaged learning credit.
- Coordinate community-based voter registration efforts (residence halls, Greek Life, cultural student organizations, athletics)

- Work with Residence Life to incorporate voter engagement into at least one community meeting/event each semester.
- Incorporate voter registration into popular events on campus.
- Promote and host debate watch parties, complete with swag and snacks
- Participate in National Voter Registration Day.
- Participate in National Voter Education Week (NVEW).
- Teach -Ins about local & state issues and relation to voting
- Organize ride to the polls on Election Day.

These are tactics that we plan to do in the short term:

- Start the conversation with administration and faculty about class attendance on Election Day.
- Work with Commuter Services, distance-learning and out-of-state staff to incorporate voter engagement into specific communications for these student populations.
- Add Election Day and other key dates to the campus calendar and course syllabi.
- Incorporate voter registration into new and/or transfer student orientation.
- Work with campus staff to incorporate voter registration into the online campus platforms you frequently use.
- Incorporate voter registration into popular events on campus.
- Promote and host debate watch parties, complete with swag and snacks
- Organize a Lobby Day or Advocacy Day to support student-friendly voting laws.
- Host election related Quizzo Nights
- Create a voting related Tik Tok Challenge
- Have school mascot lead a team of students, staff and faculty around campus on key dates to remind students to vote.
- Decorate all dining halls for Election and Vote Early Day and create participatory art walls.

These are tactics that we hope to do in the short term:

- Provide voter registration forms in different languages.
- Host a candidate town hall. Invite local and/or state-level candidates to campus or an online forum, to share stances on issues that matter to students. Be sure to invite candidates from all parties. In some states this is required!
- Provide voter registration resources for international students.
- Promote and host a roundtable-type discussion where international students share their political experiences from their own countries with peers.

VII. National Study of Learning, Voting, and Engagement (NSLVE)

Our campus has access to our National Study of Learning, Voting, and Engagement (NSLVE) data since 2014. The collaborative initiative, Rider Votes, was created beginning with the 2016 election cycle and has shown significant impact on the voting rate of Rider University students.

When reviewing NSLVE data for mid-term elections 2014 to 2018, we see an increase of 25% for a student voting rate of 38.3% (up from 13.2% in 2014). Most recently, data from the last presidential election, in 2020, shows Rider University's voting rate of 73.7%, a 21.7% increase from 2016. Also notable, in 2020 our voting rate was higher than the national institution average of 66%.

VIII. Reporting & Evaluation

We plan to share this Action Plan internally when it is complete by taking the following actions:

- Email to members of our campus coalition

We plan to share this Action Plan externally when it is complete by taking the following actions:

- Post on the campus website

We will collect feedback on this plan by:

- Sending a post-election survey to students
- Sending a post-election survey to faculty
- Regrouping with campus coalition to debrief and reflect

We plan to evaluate our success by:

- Reviewing our NSLVE data and looking for improvements year over year
- Documenting student participation in Rider Votes activities

This plan was created using the Votes & Ballots Action Planning Form.
