COMMITMENT

- How does the institution and its leadership demonstrate commitment to improving civic learning and democratic engagement? Is there an explicit, visible commitment on the part of the governing board, president/chancellor, and senior leadership?
 - The College mission states: “...the entire College community works together to develop socially responsible citizens with skills and values important to the pursuit of an enriched life and success in the world.” Additionally, at the behest of the College President, Dr. Denise Battles, the College is undertaking a redesign of the student experience at Geneseo. This inclusive process, called Geneseo Learning Outcomes for Baccalaureate Education (GLOBE), is soliciting input from all College stakeholders with the goal of “encompassing general education, academic majors, development of skills, and integrative and applied learning.” The final of eight learning outcomes, “Global Awareness and Engagement,” directly supports civic and democratic engagement, stating the goal: “ To situate individual and community experiences in multiple historical contexts, global systems, and power relations; to assess interconnections among local and global systems; to apply global perspectives in addressing challenges and solving problems.” To ensure the integration of the GLOBE outcomes, the College senate stated passed a motion in February of 2017 to create the Curriculum Design Working Group (CDWG) made up of faculty, staff, and a student representative. This group meets regularly and will make their recommendations to College senate and leadership in the coming year. These priorities of the College illustrate support of democratic ideals and student involvement in a rich co-curricular experience that provides avenues and strategies for students to connect their academic learning to real life experiences.

- A new 2020 Election Working Group has been created by our Provost, Dr. Stacey Robertson, aims to direct civic learning and democratic engagement included in the co-curriculum.
- Is the commitment communicated within the institution? To whom, specifically, and how?
 - The commitment has been communicated to students, staff, and faculty at the College through internal notification systems, public presentations, and College literature. Input and involvement in the GLOBE process and the CDWG has been open and transparent, communicating developments on a wiki page that is accessible to the entire College community.
- Is the commitment communicated outside the institution (i.e., to external stakeholders and the general public)? To whom, specifically, and how?
 - The documents, announcements, and progress of the GLOBE and CDWG are shared on our public website and at public events.

- Is educating for civic learning and democratic engagement a pervasive - part of institutional culture? Is it ongoing, consistent, systematic, and sustainable across programs, departments, and the entire institution? How do you know?

- The recent creation of GLOBE and the work of CDWG show that Geneseo is interested in integrating the ideals of democratic engagement into both the academic disciplines and the co-curricular activities of students. The pursuit of these ideals, and the participation of all stakeholders, show the institution's desire to create sustainable and systemic policies that are responsive to the important topics that will impact the lives of our students and the entire College community.

How is the institution's commitment reflected in existing statements and documents (e.g., mission statement, vision, core values, strategic plan)?

- In 2013 SUNY Geneseo participated as a "Lead Institution" in NASPA's (National Association of Student Personnel Administrators) Civic Learning and Democratic Engagement initiative. The purpose of this initiative was to define the phrase "socially responsible citizens." This phrase is found in our College mission: "...inspiring students to become socially responsible and globally aware citizens who are prepared for an enriched life and success in the world." As stated above, the work and progress of GLOBE and the CDWG are communicated across many platforms, including public presentations, social media, and an accessible wiki page.
- What are the institution's overall civic, democratic, and/or political learning outcomes? Is there a process in place to ensure that outcomes are measured and met?

- The work of the CDWG is directly addressing this challenge and how to integrate these learning outcomes into the curriculum of all College majors and disciplines.
- How is educating for civic learning and democratic engagement included in the general education curriculum?
 - Geneseo's General Education Learning Outcomes include goals that help students develop "enduring habits of intellectual inquiry," understand, "the complexity of the world," and master "theories and methodologies, and content in various disciplines and demonstrate the ability to apply this knowledge." By connecting these outcomes to civic learning, the final goal states that it is vital that students, "recognizing the responsibility that knowledge entails, should be prepared to participate ethically and intelligently as informed citizens of the communities in which they live and work." These ideals help establish a solid foundation in the democratic process and encourage students to take an active role in connecting with their immediate community and beyond.
- How is educating for civic learning and democratic engagement included in the co-curriculum?
 - The Geneseo Opportunities for Leadership Development (GOLD) program's Diamond Leadership Through Community Engagement Certificate is designed to help students become socially responsible citizens and prepare for lifelong engagement through active participation and reflection on volunteerism and service. Additionally, numerous student organizations at SUNY Geneseo are oriented towards civic learning and democratic engagement, including College Democrats and Republicans, Political Affairs Club, and Democracy Matters.

- Recently, a 2020 Election Working Group has been created by our Provost to direct on civic learning and democratic engagement included in the co-curriculum. Here are the members of that working group:
 - Stacey Robertson, Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs
 - David Parfitt, Director of the Teaching and Learning Center
 - Aaron Herold, Department of Political Science
 - Wes Kennison, Department of English
 - Jeff Koch, Department of Political Science
 - Nicholas Palumbo, Assistant Dean of Students for Leadership and Service
 - Alan Witt, Research Instruction Librarian
 - Margaret Duff, Mayor Village of Geneseo
 - Student Representative, Geneseo College Democrats
 - Student Representative, Geneseo College Republicans
 - Student Representative, Geneseo Roosevelt Institute
 - Student Representative, Geneseo Student Association

LANDSCAPE

- Are civic learning and democratic engagement overall campus learning outcomes?
 - Yes, through a goal of SUNY Geneseo's General Education requirements.

Additionally, the GLOBE initiative and curriculum design processes are formally establishing integrative learning experiences as a core concept of liberal arts education.

- What does assessment data show about the political climate and democratic engagement on campus? How does this data compare to that of peer institutions?
 - According to the 2016 NSLVE report for SUNY Geneseo, the student voting rate is 53.6% compared to a national average of 50.4% for all institutions. In 2016, the voter registration and voter education efforts resulted in increased numbers and percentages across all three sets of data (registration rates, voting rates of registered students, and voting rates for all enrolled students). In terms of numbers, there were 482 more students who registered to vote and 680 more students who voted. The percentage of females voting increased by 16.6% from 2012 to 2016, and the percentage of males voting increased by 14.1% from 2012 to 2016. By field of study, the three highest voting rates were 73.0% in Foreign Languages, Literatures and Linguistics; 61.6% in education; and 64.4% in Visual and Performing Arts. By field of study, the three lowest voting rates were 42.1% for Business, Management and Marketing; 48.1% for Biological and Biomedical; and 45.7% in the Liberal Arts and Sciences and Humanities.  - According to our 2018 NSLVE Report, our registration rate went up 18% from 64% to 82%. We experienced a 35% increase in our Voting Rate of Registered Students (9.8% → 45.3%), and our voting rate was up 31.2% (6.3% → 37.5%). Our voting rate was just under the 2018 Voting Rate for all institutions. This is an area for improvement. We experienced the highest voting rates from History and English Language and Literature majors, at 55.1% and 51.1%, respectively. The lowest voting rates were from Business, Management, and Marketing and Biological and Biomedical Sciences Majors, at 24.6% and 30.1%, respectively. This is another spot for improvement. For SUNY Geneseo's full report, please visit: https://www.geneseo.edu/sites/default/files/sites/vote/2014 and 2018 NSLVE Report-SUNY College at Geneseo.pdf

- How is civic learning and democratic engagement present in the curriculum?
 - A goal of SUNY Geneseo's General Education is that students will recognize the responsibilities that knowledge entails, and be prepared to participate ethically and intelligently as informed citizens of the communities in which they live and work. The GLOBE framework and efforts of the CDWG are seeking ways to formally introduce these principles into the academic curriculum to enrich and inform our students' learning.
 - In which courses is it taught?
 - LEAD 202 (GOLD Leader Mentors) - Leadership, is a two-semester long credit-bearing experience where students gain the title of GOLD Mentor and are tasked with engaging the College and community in an array of civic engagement activities and leadership opportunities.
 - LEAD 202 (Student-Athlete Mentors) - Leadership, is a two-semester long credit-bearing experience where students gain the title of Student-Athlete Mentor and are tasked with engaging the College and community in an array of civic engagement activities and leadership opportunities.

- HONR 393 The Edgar Fellows Capstone Experience sees students completing a course of their own design that often includes volunteering or community service as the main focus.
- Importantly, the CDWG process referenced above seeks to energize all disciplines by requiring all courses to incorporate integrative learning into their coursework. This dynamic process is seeking to formalize the integration of engagement strategies that will support classroom learning, ultimately to be included in course descriptions and outcomes. This process is currently ongoing and should be completed within the next calendar year.

- In which courses is it listed as a learning outcome?

- In a recent meeting with the director of Geneseo's Director of Institutional Research, we were told that faculty are beginning to include these outcomes in their courses as a way to help students apply their classroom learning in the real world. As the CDWG presents their work to College leadership, these concepts will be formally tracked and integrated across the institution.
- How is civic learning and democratic engagement present in the co-curriculum?
 - The Center for Community offers opportunities for civic learning and democratic engagement through the offices of Leadership and Service as well as Student Volunteerism and Community Engagement.

- The learning outcomes of the traditional Student activities office also support the education of engaged citizen, including: Civic Engagement, Ethical Reasoning, Intercultural Knowledge and Competence, and Global Learning. These priorities support a life full of connection and responsibility to our fellow citizens.
- In which departments is this included?
 - Within the Division of Student and Campus Life: Center for Community, Student Life, and Residence Life.
- What initiatives, programs, and activities focus on this?
 - The GOLD program run out of the Office of Leadership and Service offers workshops several areas that support democratic engagement. Most pointedly, the Diamond Leadership Through Community Engagement track that seeks to provide resources and skills that students will use to become socially responsible and build a foundation for lifelong civic engagement. The GOLD Leader Mentors (that enroll in Leadership 202) all work towards their own professional and personal development in this arena and support the rest of the student body to embark on this journey as well.
 - The Office of Student Volunteerism and Community Engagement provides opportunities for large group service projects on and off-campus, and individual service activities for any student to connect with their community of peers and with the community outside of the campus. The emphasis of this office rests in responsible and culturally competent community service, focusing on meaningful interactions and the development of relationships that will inform and enrich the College-going experience.

- Student Life also aims to ensure that students will become socially responsible citizens. The Educational Initiatives Plan of the Student Life department includes Learning Goals connected to civic and democratic engagement:
 - Each student will become a socially responsible citizen.
 - Each student will build positive relationships with people in the community.
 - Each student will aspire to be an engaged learner.
- Additionally, the learning outcomes associated with the Educational initiatives of Student Life include; Civic Engagement, Ethical Reasoning, Intercultural Knowledge and Competence, and Global Learning. These efforts are integral to creating lifelong civic and democratic engagement.
- Voter Registration is implemented on move-in day in collaboration with the Center for Community and Residence Life every August. GOLD Leader mentors help register voters, especially first-year students on campus, and we have scheduled an activity associated with the “Weeks of Welcome” program, offered through the Department of Student Life.
- What internal barriers (e.g., limited funding, staff resistance, lack of leadership) prevent the institution from being successful?
 - We have had a great deal of success with our past voter engagement initiatives. We have solid leadership in the Assistant Dean of Students for Leadership and Service, and the Coordinator of Student Volunteerism and Community Engagement, as well as our GOLD Leader Mentors, Student-Athlete Mentors, Andrew Goodman Ambassadors, and other student leaders on campus. As with all undertakings, we could use more resources to best meet our ambitious goals; more staffing to coordinate events, and more financial support to create an inclusive and wide-reaching approach to voter engagement.

- What external barriers (e.g., election laws, voter ID laws, lack of proximity to polling location) prevent the institution from being successful?
 - We have not encountered too many additional barriers other than devising the best strategies to build a base of voters that are registered in Livingston County.
- What resources are available to help the institution be successful?
 - The on-campus polling site located in Kuhl Gymnasium, Merritt Athletics Center.
 - The Center for Community, Residence Life, and Student Life departments, in the Division of Student and Campus Life, supports the voter engagement program with resources including staff time, support services such as printing, mailing, the <https://www.geneseo.edu/vote> website, and use of facilities.
 - The Geneseo Opportunities for Leadership Development (GOLD) Program includes service and education on voter engagement through leadership workshops and events for credit in the Diamond Leadership Through Community Engagement Certificate.
 - The Andrew Goodman Foundation is providing stipends for the three Andrew Goodman Vote Everywhere Ambassadors and a grant for expenses of $1,000.00.

- The Geneseo Votes Coalition: Center for Community (Nicholas Palumbo, Assistant Dean of Students for Leadership and Service), Livingston County Board of Elections (Andrea Bailey and Dave DiPasquale), College Democrats and Republicans, Roosevelt Institute, Student Association, Peace Action Coalition, and Political Affairs Club.
- Provost's 2020 Election Working Group: Stacey Robertson, Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs; David Parfitt, Director of the Teaching and Learning Center, Aaron Herold, Department of Political Science; Wes Kennison, Department of English; Jeff Koch, Department of Political Science, Nicholas Palumbo, Assistant Dean of Students for Leadership & Service; and Alan Witt, Research Instruction Librarian.
- What additional resources are needed to help the institution be successful?
 - No additional resources are needed to help the institution be successful. However, as mentioned above, to best meet our ambitious goals, more staffing to coordinate events, and more financial support to create an inclusive and wide-reaching approach to voter engagement.

GOALS

- Long-Term Goals
 - What impact is desired?
 - Increased voter registration and turnout in both local, state, and federal elections.

- What knowledge, skills, and capacities (learning outcomes) does the institution want students to achieve and graduate with in order to be active and informed?
 - As stated above, the College is actively pursuing formal policies and institutional learning outcomes that support civic and democratic engagement. SUNY Geneseo seeks to encourage life-long, responsible citizenship that includes taking an active role in the democratic process.
 - We want to see students graduate as well-rounded individuals who think deeply about their place in the world and want to address the pressing challenges of the 21st century.
- What does the institution want to accomplish over the next 10 years?
 - Move the on-campus polling site to a more centralized location to ensure that students have easy access on election day.
 - Develop stronger internal systems and structures to support absentee voting.
 - Formally incorporate integrative learning into all curricula to support cross-disciplinary collaboration and the application of classroom lessons in the real world. By institutionalizing these learning outcomes, we will change the culture of the College to support mindful civic engagement and involvement in the democratic process.
- Short-Term Goals
 - What does the institution want to accomplish in the next year or two?

- Maintain higher than average voter registration and turnout rates for the 2020 Presidential, State, and local elections.
- What needs to be accomplished in order to move towards the achievement of long-term goals?
 - Maintain a positive working relationship with the Livingston County Board of Elections.
 - Maintain regular meetings of the Geneseo Votes Coalition.
 - Maintain regular meetings of the Provost's 2020 Working Group.
 - Additional resources allocated to support the mission and goals of the Provost's 2020 Working Group.
 - Actively contribute to the CDWG and the GLOBE initiative.

STRATEGY

- What is the work? What are the planned activities?
 - Below is a list of campaigns implemented throughout the 2019-2020 academic year. Our campaigns typically focus on voter outreach in fall semesters and voting infrastructure and institutionalization in spring semesters. Sometimes campaigns span multiple semesters and even academic years. Importantly, within all campaigns is a clear voting-related component:
 - On move-in day for new and returning students, the Andrew Goodman Foundation Vote Everywhere Ambassadors will organize volunteers from the GOLD Leader Mentor and Student-Athlete Mentor staffs to register students to vote.

- The Andrew Goodman Foundation Vote Everywhere Ambassadors will hold several tabling events in the MacVittie College Union as well as targeted academic building before all elections to register students to vote.
- Based on NSLVE data, business and biology majors will be targeted for voter registration and engagement events due to the relatively low turnout rates of these majors compared to SUNY Geneseo's average turnout rate.
- Voter registration materials will be distributed to major off-campus housing complexes to ensure ease of access for this population of students.
- Candidate forums will be held prior to each election to inform students about the upcoming vote.
- Voter registration efforts, through tabling and GOLD workshops, will take place on Constitution Day and National Voter Registration Day.
- Donuts for Democracy event will focus on civic education and getting students registered to vote by setting up a spot where free donuts are offered. All students are provided donuts at this event, regardless of whether they register to vote or take resources on civic engagement.
- Senior Salute Days will focus on tabling focused on assisting graduating seniors who are moving to get re-registered or change their voter registration.
- Geneseo Recognizing Excellence, Achievement & Talent (GREAT) Day, we offered student-led panels on voting and civic engagement at Geneseo.

- Digital Communication - social media pages promoting voting, voter registration, and civic engagement at Geneseo on Twitter, Instagram, and Facebook.
- Over the 2019-2020 academic year, we registered over 600 new students to vote using paper applications and deliver all applications to the Livingston County Board of Elections. There is a register to vote page on the Geneseo website as well: <https://www.geneseo.edu/vote/voter-education>
- Who will do the work? Who is responsible for implementing each planned activity?
 - The Andrew Goodman Foundation Vote Everywhere Ambassadors will plan activities along with the Assistant Dean of Students for Leadership and Service and the Geneseo Votes Coalition. GOLD Leader Mentors and Student-Athlete Mentors will serve as a pool of volunteers for the work.
- Who is the work for? Who is the audience for each activity?
 - The work is for all students of SUNY Geneseo. This is the audience for each activity.
- Where will the work happen? Where will each activity occur on campus?
 - The work will happen primarily in the MacVittie College Union. Tabling and most events will take place in various rooms in this building. Special events such as the candidate forums will take place in Newton Lecture Hall and/or MacVittie College Union Ballroom, and targeted events will take place in South Hall and the Integrated Science Center, which house the business majors and biology majors respectively. Finally, the preponderance of our activity takes place in residence halls, given that is where most of our voter registration occurs.

- When will the work happen? When will each activity occur on campus?
 - The work will happen throughout the year, increasing in activity leading up to each election.
- What is the purpose of the work? Why is each activity being implemented and what is the goal for each activity?
 - These activities aim to increase voter registration rates and voter turnout. General events such as tabling in the MacVittie College Union aim to address voter registration and engagement for the entire campus community. Targeted events in South Hall and the Integrated Science Center aim to address the relatively low voter turnout rates for business majors and biology majors.

REPORTING

 - This plan will be shared with all members of the Geneseo Votes Coalition and will be posted on geneseo.edu/vote.
- Will the plan be made public? If so, how?
 - Yes, the plan will be shared on geneseo.edu/vote.
- Will the data used to inform the plan be made public? If so, how?
 - Yes, the NSLVE report information is shared on geneseo.edu/vote.

EVALUATION

- What is the purpose of the evaluation?

- The evaluation aims to increase the effectiveness of the Geneseo Votes Coalition as well as alert the group to current or upcoming problems that may need to be addressed.
- What does the institution want to know and be able to do with the information gathered?
 - The institution will use the information to measure and further efforts to increase voter registration and engagement.
- Who is the audience for the evaluation?
 - The audience for the evaluation will primarily be the Geneseo Votes Coalition.
- Who will carry out the evaluation?

The Livingston County Board of Elections will periodically provide reports as well. Finally, the NSVLE evaluation will take place every two years in the general election.
- When will the evaluation be carried out and completed?
 - The evaluation will be carried out throughout the year and will be complete with and end of the year report.
- What information (data, evidence) must be collected and how will it be collected?

What are the performance measures and indicators of success?

- Attendance records for each event will be collected by the Andrew Goodman Foundation Vote Everywhere Ambassadors, who will play a role in the organization of each event. Also, student- authored journal reflections at GOLD events are also reviewed by the Assistant Dean of Students for Leadership and Service, and impressions from the journals will be shared with the Geneseo Votes Coalition. Comparison to previous years data will be an indicator of success (increased attendance, improved voter turnout rates).

- How will information (data, evidence) be analyzed?
 - The information will be distributed to members of the Geneseo Votes Coalition and will be discussed and analyzed together.
- How will the results of the evaluation be shared?
 - The results of the evaluation will be shared on geneseo.edu/vote
